Highlights

- Coupled Adam decay shrinks the rare-class rows of GeFL-F's feature generator.
- Exact secure-aggregation statistics anchor the generator and correct its features.
- An exact class-balanced readout sets each architecture's last layer.
- Most of the gain is the readout's; given to all pipeline methods, the lead is small.
- Compared with 21 published methods in two protocols on the same client splits.